

Have a Go: Feel Good Guide

WELCOME TO THIS YEAR'S FEEL GOOD FESTIVAL OF SPORT,
HEALTH, LEISURE, LEARNING AND CULTURE.

Waltham Forest

We are enjoying a fantastic summer of sport and culture in Waltham Forest this year – from Bicycle Ballet at Chingford May Day Fayre as part of London Borough of Culture 2019 and the CEV Beach Volleyball Continental Cup at Feel Good Too Centre in May to the launch of Waltham Forest and England and Wales Cricket Board's first Urban Cricket hub at Leyton Sports Ground later in June.

But rather than watching on the sidelines, it's now time for you to get involved and emulate this summer's sporting and cultural heroes. The Feel Good Festival of Sports, Learning and Culture, which runs throughout June, will shine a spotlight on the different ways you can improve your health and wellbeing by partaking in a variety of different activities.

This year the offer is even bigger and better than ever as we combine the Sports and Leisure offer with our Adult Learning Service offer, and ways you can get involved with London Borough of Culture 2019. Improving the quality of life of our local residents is important to us, and that relies on the availability of different opportunities for people of all ages and abilities to participate in something that makes them feel good.

This could be a sporting activity such as tennis with one of our partners, learning a new skill or hobby at the Adult Learning Service or perhaps volunteering with our Legends of the Forest in our London Borough of Culture programme.

Featuring over 300 events over 30 days, from Tai Chi to trampolining, walking football to fun runs, gardening to computer courses, there will be a huge range of activities on offer including health workshops and family-friendly activity sessions – many of them are free.

We want to build upon the feel-good factor this summer of sport has created in our community by staging a festival that is jam-packed with events and activities to help you look after every aspect of your health and wellbeing, whether that's through sport, learning or cultural activities – everyone is different!

To find out what's going on this month and how you can connect, be active, take notice, learn or give – and help us to make Waltham Forest the Feel Good borough – pick up the Feel Good booklet in your local library, leisure centre, Town Hall reception, the Junction Centre or Queen's Road Learning Centre. You can also visit walthamforest.gov.uk/feelgoodfestival.

Mental wellbeing

Take part in our Feel Good festival this June to support your wellbeing. There are lots of activities to help you participate in the 5 ways of wellbeing. Evidence suggests that there are small actions everyone can take to improve wellbeing, decrease and prevent mental health problems and also help people to flourish. Some of these actions can be summarised in the 5 ways to wellbeing and are as follows:

Mental wellbeing is about feeling healthy and happy, and able to live a fulfilling, quality life. It allows us to enjoy positive relationships and be able to deal with the day to day challenges that come our way in life. Good mental wellbeing can also help us prevent mental health problems.

- Connect - social connections support and develop good mental wellbeing
- Be active - physical activity such as walking, exercise and sports is known to be one of the best ways to improve mental wellbeing
- Take notice - this relates to mindfulness and appreciation of the surrounding environment
- Keep learning - continually mastering new skills, particularly later in life, improves self-esteem and reduces depression and anxiety
- Give - feelings of being useful to, and appreciated by, others can improve happiness and mental wellbeing

Feel Good month is a great opportunity for you and your family to take part in some of these activities and boost your mental wellbeing.

Mental health and stigma

One in four people will experience a mental health problem in their lifetime yet many people still feel ashamed to say they are one of them. This can prevent people from seeking help or even talking to friends or family about their problems.

We are supporting the Time to Change campaign to tackle stigma and discrimination around mental health. You can find out more about our campaign and how to become a local Time to Change champion by visiting www.bit.ly/timetochangewf or email chris.osullivan@crestwf.org.uk

Support for mental health and wellbeing

If you are experiencing low mood, feeling anxious, stressed or having problems sleeping, there is online support available at www.good-thinking.uk Young people aged 11-19 years can visit www.kooth.com for online counselling, help and advice.

Be sugar smart

Too much sugar is bad for our health. Did you know that an average school child in England consumes half their recommended sugar allowance before they even get to school in the morning? Here are simple steps you can take to reduce your family's sugar consumption:

- Why not consider swapping fruit juices, sugary drinks and milkshakes for water or sugar-free varieties.
- Remember most products have traffic light labels, usually on the front of the pack. Try and pick ones that have a green light for sugar.

For more ideas on how to cut back on sugar visit www.nhs.uk/change4life

ALCOHOL

The Chief Medical Officer has published new safe drinking guidelines. Here are some of the key points:

- Both men and women are advised not to regularly drink more than 14 units a week.
- That is equivalent to 6 pints of 4% beer or 6 glasses of 13% wine.
- It is best to spread alcohol consumption evenly across the week.
- If you are pregnant you are recommended not to drink alcohol at all.

Find out more by visiting www.drinkaware.co.uk.

For anyone concerned about their drinking our alcohol services are able to help. Contact CGL Waltham Forest on 0203 826 9600.

Waltham Forest has a Football League team once more as Leyton Orient finished the season as champions of the National League.

Following the club's appearance in Sunday's FA Trophy final against FC Fylde at Wembley, they're looking forward to a bright future that few fans could have dreamt of when they crashed out of League Two at the end of the 2016/17 season.

In 2014, the club was brought by businessman Francesco Becchetti and under his stewardship, faced winding-up petitions with debts of more than £5.5m.

Salvation came in the form of Woodford-born businessman Nigel Travis, a lifelong O's fan who had become Executive Chairman of Dunkin' Brands, home of Dunkin' Donuts and Baskin-Robbins ice cream. Joined by US investor Kent Teague, the duo led the takeover of the club in 2017. The final piece in the jigsaw saw former Tottenham defender Justin Edinburgh joining as manager in November 2017, successfully leading the Leyton team back into the Football League at an emotionally-charged match against Braintree on 27 April in front of a crowd of over 8,000.

"This has been my best experience in 55 years of following Leyton Orient"

John Day has been supporting the O's for over half a century. He and his daughter Alicia are season ticket holders and they joined fellow fans to celebrate their return to the Football League. He told us: "This has been my best experience in 55 years of following Leyton Orient. It just shows what can be achieved with the right owners in charge."

Wrong items in green recycling bins costs council tax payers over £300,000 per year

The council wants to keep it as easy as possible for residents to recycle, and unlike some authorities we don't make you separate your recyclable paper, glass, cans and plastics. Instead, these get sorted mechanically and by hand at a recycling centre after your green bin is emptied.

Top contaminating items

Leave out of your green bin	Why?
Black bin bags	The type of plastic they're made of can't be recycled. Remember, black bin bags are for the black bin.
Food/drink	Even small amounts smear over everything in the collection vehicle, making all the recycling dirty.
Textiles/clothes	These cause jams in the sorting machinery. To reuse or recycle them properly, place them inside a public Salvation Army or Traid clothes bank.
Nappies/sanitary items	These can't be recycled, even if they're labelled 'biodegradable'. Always put in your black bin.
Small electrical items	Small electrical items can only be recycled at grey public recycling banks, or at recycling centres.
Garden waste	These can't be recycled in the green bin. Instead put them in the brown bin to get composted.

More info

For a full list of items that can and can't be recycled, visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/content/bins-green-brown-black-what-goes-them

Collection crews will check residents' recycling bins and if they spot anything inside which can't be recycled, they'll leave it uncollected and put a sticker over the lid so you can take out the item by your next collection.

Unfortunately, a small number of bins containing the wrong items are collected by mistake. In 2018, it cost the council over £300,000 to dispose of this contaminated recycling as general rubbish.

During that time, 800 lorry loads of recycling couldn't be recycled because they were too heavily contaminated with the wrong items. If enough incorrect items – like black bin bags, food and clothes – are collected in green bins by mistake, they get mixed with the rest of the clean and dry recycling and cause the whole load to be rejected.

Please put black bin bags in your black bin, not your green one

Knowing every single type of item which can go into your green bin can be tricky, so start by understanding which items definitely shouldn't go in:

From the Leader

Cllr Clare Coghill

Last weekend saw Leyton Orient supporters descending on Wembley to watch the team in the FA Trophy Final. It was the culmination of a fantastic year for the club as they were crowned National League Champions and regained their spot in the Football League.

We can all be proud of their achievements, whether you're a football fan or not. With the team's future in doubt just two years ago, their success isn't just a boost for the area of Leyton where they're based, but the whole borough.

This month we also welcome the best in international beach volleyball to Waltham Forest as the Continental Cup comes to the Feel Good Too centre on the 25 and 26 May. Find out how you can go along to watch on page 7.

Sport has the ability to bring people together and boost community spirit – and it's never too late to join in. Read our article on page 6 to find out how care assistants Patricia, Donnalee and Janese are helping older residents keep fit and have fun.

Sport can help Life Chances, by improving well-being, as well as building confidence and offering valuable lessons in working as a team.

Sport can also be inspirational.

Waltham Forest is rightly proud of our local stars of today such as Tae Kwon-do champion Lutalo Muhammad and England men's football captain Harry Kane. But it's also fantastic to celebrate the life of a sporting legend from the past.

Beryl Swain was born in Walthamstow in 1936 and in 1962 became the first woman solo rider to compete in the perilous Isle Of Man TT motorcycle road race. Her licence was later revoked when a minimum weight requirement was introduced to stop her competing in the male-dominated sport, but her achievements live on.

Beryl's story is highlighted in this year's E17 Art Trail (see page 5.) First staged in 2004 and now held every two years, this year's trail will see 8,000 artists and residents taking part, and is sure to be one of the highlights of Waltham Forest's year as the Mayor's first London Borough of Culture.

Sport and the arts both have the ability to bring communities together and I'm proud that Waltham Forest has such a rich heritage in both.

A walk through history in Chingford Mount

Visitors can explore over 40 acres of walkways and tributes to the people buried in the cemetery

Chingford Mount cemetery is the final resting place for thousands of local residents, including World War I flying aces and the East End's most notorious gangsters. It's also cherished by the living for its peace, natural beauty and history etched on every gravestone.

The cemetery opened in 1884. Abandoned by its private owners in the 60s and 70s, it was taken over by Waltham Forest Council in 1978 and once more became a working cemetery.

It's huge – covering over 40 acres, with wide, tree-lined paths cutting through the graves. The Kray Twins are buried here, along with 18th century sculptor John Bacon, whose work features in St Paul's Cathedral, and Benjamin Pollock, the man behind Pollock's famous Toy Museum in Covent Garden.

The cemetery hosts an annual service of remembrance, when local schoolchildren place poppies on around 300 Commonwealth war graves. This year's will take place on Friday 8 November.

Cemetery manager Tusar Sen Gupta is developing 10-point trails about both World Wars, and the social history of East London. He explains: "Following recent research into the history of the cemetery, we've discovered that there was a large German population in London before World War I. We've uncovered headstones inscribed in German as well as mass graves of German male civilians from Alexandra Palace internment camp. We also had German airmen buried here who crashed in World War II, tucked away in a quiet corner of the cemetery, close to victims of the Blitz. Their bodies were later moved to a dedicated war graves cemetery at Cannock Chase."

A peaceful resting place

You can visit Chingford Mount Cemetery seven days a week. Summer opening hours (until 1 October) are Monday to Saturday, 7.30am to 7.30pm and 10am to 6pm on Sundays. Contact: cemeteries@walthamforest.gov.uk or visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/content/chingford-mount-cemetery

Help for young people to leave gangs

Waltham Forest's Gang Prevention Programme has commissioned a series of new services to support young people involved with, or affected by, gangs.

The services will be recruiting and training local residents as community mentors, to help those caught up in gang activity, including young women.

One service will work specifically with people who've been convicted of gang offences as they're released from prison and are returning to the community.

More info

Residents interested in becoming community mentors are invited to attend a mentoring event on 23 May at St Mary's Church, Walthamstow at 7.30pm. The event is open to all. Please register your interest in attending by emailing: hhenry@chelmsford.anglican.org

Behind the scenes at the EMD/Granada

It's been a momentous week for the former EMD Cinema (previously Granada Cinema).

The Grade II* listed cine-variety hall in Hoe Street, Walthamstow, opened in 1930 but closed 15 years ago. Since 2015, it's housed the pop-up bar and entertainment venue Mirth, Marvel and Maud, with the historic site being purchased by Waltham Forest Council earlier this year. The council is now working in partnership with Soho Theatre to reopen the building in 2022 as a local theatre with a national profile.

This week, as refurbishment work starts on the building, the EMD/Granada opens for behind the scenes tours of the main auditorium, hidden from public view for over a decade. Tickets sold out quickly for the tours on Tuesday.

Keep an eye out in the next edition of Waltham Forest News for a special look behind the scenes at this iconic cultural venue.

The work of 8,500 Walthamstow artists and residents will be exhibited around the local area from 1 to 16 June as part of the 15th E17 Art Trail.

The biennial festival, being staged this year as part of the Mayor's first London Borough of Culture in Waltham Forest, will feature 400 exhibitions in 205 private and public spaces. This makes it one of the largest open access visual arts festivals in the UK.

The E17 Art Trail was first staged in 2004. The festival, which works with artists, creatives, businesses, community organisations and schools in Walthamstow, has grown year on year since then. In 2017, it hosted more than 300 events featuring the work of 7,500 people, drawing in 75,000 visitors.

For 2019, artists have been inspired by the theme, Wonder {of art and science}. They've responded with an exciting range of diverse pieces tackling subjects such as mental health and well-being, environmental issues and campaigns, and the power of art and science together.

The inclusive festival of art features work by internationally known artists alongside local residents and students. The work is exhibited in a host of locations, spanning homes, community centres and schools, restaurants, local businesses and faith centres.

Highlights of this year's E17 Art Trail include:

- a groundbreaking collaboration between ceramicist Amanda Doidge and neuroscientists from King's College London
- Swarm – a call to arms responding to the plight of our pollinating insects, featuring work by Alke Schmidt, Anna Alcock, Hannah Ford, Miyuki Kasahara and Sandi Sutton
- Female Icons – Lucy Henzell-Thomas's portraits of women who have inspired wonder
- Beryl Swain: The Need for Speed – a coming together of female motorcyclists to celebrate the Walthamstow-born pioneer who became the first woman to ride solo in the Isle of Man TT race (see right)
- Inner Light – new textile installation from Rezia Wahid MBE.

You can kick start the trail early by coming along to the preview night on Thursday 30 May, when 60 exhibitions open early all over Walthamstow. Visit www.e17arttrail.co.uk/previews

The brilliant Beryl Swain

Speed sister, Beryl Swain. Image: Manx National Heritage

Born in Walthamstow in 1936, Beryl Swain became the first solo woman to compete in a TT race on the dangerous Isle of Man TT course. The year was 1962 and in response, the International Federation of Motorcycling introduced a minimum weight requirement for competitors, meaning that Beryl, weighing just 7 and half stone, stood no chance of qualifying and had her licence revoked. Beryl was forced to give up the sport she loved and eventually became a manager for Sainsbury's. She died in Epping in 2007 – but is now getting the recognition she deserved.

The pupils from the school in Vicarage Road, Leyton, discovered the different types of jobs available in the construction industry and the works that are taking place

Coppermill Lane trials

Throughout May, Waltham Forest council's highways team has been trialling potential new road layouts on a section of Coppermill Lane in Walthamstow.

As part of the Coppermill Liveable Neighbourhood scheme, two temporary trials have been constructed to see whether the road can be made safer for pedestrians and cyclists, and meet the needs of local residents and businesses.

This week the second two-week long trial begins, which will see the road narrowed to provide additional space for pedestrians. This follows the previous trial which created two separate lanes of traffic, preventing motor vehicles from overtaking cyclists.

Road users have been invited to leave comments on boards on the road as well as give feedback during face-to-face surveys, which will be used to inform plans for future improvements in the area.

Putting a little Oomph! into exercising

Carers Janese Warner, Patricia Jackson and Donnalee Ellis

Older adults around Waltham Forest have been benefitting from a new service that helps them keep fit and improves their well-being.

In November 2018 the council's Adult Social Care Provider Services and Sports and Leisure Team began working with Oomph! The company has provided training to 14 care home and dementia service staff to deliver lively and varied activities for the residents of George Mason Lodge, Leytonstone, Alliston House, Walthamstow and Mapleton Road, Chingford, and our dementia group sites in Leyton and Chingford.

The activities are fun and engaging and promote mental, physical and emotional well-being. Oomph! CEO and founder Ben Allen said: "We founded Oomph! to make a difference and improve older adults' lives. We can see how vital this is every day and we are continuously driven by the results we see."

Patricia, Donnalee and Janese are care assistants at George Mason Lodge. They've been delivering regular Oomph! sessions for over six months.

Every session includes a warm up where residents are encouraged to do some light exercises, such as lifting their arms, flexing their hands and fingers or rolling their ankles, in preparation for the activities ahead.

Janese said: "It's really beneficial for the residents. Not only do they enjoy it but it keeps them healthy. As many residents have more limited mobility, they don't have as many opportunities to do physical activities, so we always try to offer variety in the sessions. We're very much looking forward to the warmer weather so that we can have the sessions outside in the garden."

Activities include seated volleyball, floor hockey and role-play, all accompanied by lively music. Patricia said: "We have a lot of fun delivering the sessions and we can see that the residents enjoy them, too. One of the residents, Gill, always gets up and dances, others sing along to songs they recognise, and we all have a great time."

The world's top hockey teams head to Lee Valley

The FIH Pro League is a ground-breaking, global hockey league which sees the world's top men's and women's nations – including Great Britain – battling it out for sporting glory.

The tournament got underway in January and will see a total of 128 matches being staged around the world ahead of a Grand Final in June in the Netherlands.

London hosts 15 of Great Britain's men's and women's matches, with most taking place at the Lee Valley Hockey and Tennis Centre in the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park. The matches are part of the legacy of the London 2012 Olympics, of which Waltham Forest was a host borough.

GB Hockey is giving residents of Waltham Forest wanting to see Great Britain a 20 per cent discount on the following matches (subject to availability):

GB v Germany (men)
Thursday, 6 June – 7:30pm

GB v Germany (women)
Friday, 7 June – 7:30pm

Beach volleyball back in London – and free to watch!

Ellie Austin and Anaya Evans met are competing for England

There are only a few days to go now until Waltham Forest welcomes international beach volleyball back to London for the first time since the 2012 Olympics.

The CEV (Confédération Européenne de Volleyball) Continental Cup is taking place at Leyton's Feel Good Too centre on Saturday 25 and Sunday 26 May. It's a rare opportunity to see world-class beach volleyball teams compete as they begin the quest to qualify for the Tokyo 2020 Olympics. And most excitingly, tickets are completely FREE for the entire weekend.

The women's and men's England teams will be in action – the women's team takes on France, Belarus, and Northern Ireland, while the men face Switzerland, Armenia, and Bulgaria.

Hosting its first international competition is a huge milestone for the Feel Good Too centre in Leyton, which opened in October 2018 following an £11m investment and redevelopment by the council. The tournament is being hosted in partnership with the CEV, Leyton-based volleyball management agency Side Out, Volleyball England and Volleyball London.

The competition may be international, but there will be a strong local influence throughout the weekend.

The council has invited young people from schools in the borough to work as ball retrievers during the event, and food and drinks will be available from local traders. There will even be the chance for wannabe beach-bums to have a go themselves on the taster court. Who knows, perhaps the beach volleyball stars of tomorrow could find their feet?

It's not often you get to support Waltham Forest businesses and watch international sports stars at the same time. We'll see you on the beach!

The England teams

Women

- Vicky Palmer and Jess Grimson
- Ellie Austin and Anaya Evans

Men

- Joaquin and Javier Bello
- Chris Gregory and Issa Batrane

The competition

Women

France – ranked 16th in Europe
Belarus – ranked 12th in Europe
Northern Ireland – ranked 42nd in Europe

Men

Switzerland - ranked 34th in Europe
Armenia – unranked in Europe
Bulgaria – ranked 6th in Europe

The 2012 Olympic legacy

The Feel Good Too centre in Leyton was opened in October 2018 on the site of the disused Ive Farm Field sports ground, which, until the 1980s, served as training ground for Leyton Orient FC. To promote sport in the borough and nurture the next generation of sporting talent, especially following the huge success of the London 2012 Olympics, the council spent £11m to renovate and develop the area.

The facilities now include floodlit all-weather sports pitches, a 60-metre running track, and world-class beach volleyball facilities. The new Feel Good Too centre also features a community café and growing beds which will supply delicious fresh produce directly to customers' plates. Find out more at www.bit.ly/feelgoodtoo.

Reserve a priority ticket

It's free to turn up on the day – but if you want to guarantee entry, visit our Eventbrite page and reserve your priority ticket. All that's left to do is prepare for the weekend of sporting action! bit.ly/CEV_priority

Mission Grove pupils in Walthamstow join a walking bus for Walk to School week

Stepping out in Waltham Forest

As the temperatures start to rise May has seen the return of National Walking Month.

Waltham Forest Council's weekly community Feel Good Walks encourage residents to get out and explore the borough, meet new people and get more active. Following the training of 20 walk leaders in recent months, the number of walks available across the borough is growing.

The council is also supporting primary school children to get moving more during Walk to School Week (20-25 May). 45 schools have signed up, which equates to 20,500 pupils, and will see them walk up to a mile each day. In Waltham Forest, the majority of school catchment areas are less than a mile, so under a 20 minute to walk.

Motorcyclists must now pay to park in car parks and on the streets of Waltham Forest.

Charges have been introduced to protect parking for local residents as well as deter anti-social behaviour in the borough.

From 1 July 2019 motorcyclists without a valid parking ticket or permit could receive a £130 fixed penalty notice.

Two new Saturday markets launch

Organic vegetables and more will be available in Lloyd Park Market

This summer sees two new markets opening in the borough, giving even more choice for shoppers and visitors including those looking for some great street food.

Opening during National Love Your Local Market Week, which runs from 17 to 31 May, the Leyton Jubilee Market launched last Saturday. Find it behind KukoolLaLa Café between 11am to 4pm for 12 weeks over the summer.

Hosted by The Creative Side of London, it's the idea of a group of local residents who decided this part of the borough needed a market and then took action to make it happen.

It features a range of affordable stalls, including hot food, local produce, handmade goods and pre-loved items, as well as music, a bouncy castle and other entertainment for children.

In Walthamstow, Lloyd Park Market opens on 8 June. Find it at the Forest Road entrance to the park from 10am until 4pm every Saturday.

As well as being able to pick up seasonal organic vegetables, an organic chicken or a locally baked loaf of bread, you'll be able to grab an amazing lunch by the likes of burger legends Mother Flipper, Carcass fire-cooked steaks, Little Leaf vegan pizza and more.

The market will even have a Doggie Deli, so four legged customers won't miss out on the fun.

Reduced carbon emissions at Marlowe Road Energy Centre

LtoR at the official opening: Asst Site Manager Vicky Beeston, Project Manager Juan Velez, Technical Manager Adam Clarke, Cllr Clyde Loakes, Cllr Louise Mitchell, Snr and Associate Development Director Nick Clarke

Residents in Marlowe Road Walthamstow will be able to benefit from fairly priced heating and hot water while helping the environment, thanks to the opening of a new district energy centre.

The centre, which was built by Countryside Properties as part of the regeneration of the former Marlowe Road Estate, currently uses specially designed boilers to produce hot water that's piped to the households for their central heating, showers and hot water in bathrooms and kitchens.

When fully operational, the energy centre will also contain combined heat and power units which use natural gas to produce electricity which is then sold to the National Grid. The heat generated is used to provide hot water and heating to residents' homes. This will further improve the cost efficiency and reduce the carbon emissions of the system.

Temperatures can be controlled by thermostats in each apartment. Residents can pay their energy bills directly through a meter in their homes that also provides information on how much they use, allowing much greater control over energy consumption and cost.

The energy centre will supply energy to 436 new homes on Marlowe Road estate when the redevelopment is complete. It's also expected to supply energy to hundreds more existing homes in the local area, as well as public sector buildings.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Council Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, officially opened the centre alongside Cllr Louise Mitchell, Cabinet Member for Housing. He said: "We first had the idea for this district energy centre seven years ago and were pleased when it received £1million from the government Heat Network Investment Project (HNIP).

The heat generated is used to provide hot water and heating to residents' homes

"It will help tackle the climate emergency by reducing household carbon emissions by making efficient use of heat from electricity generation which would otherwise be lost."

New open space for Leytonstone

Plans for the new open space in Victoria Road

Work is due to start in June on a new open space in Victoria Road, near the junction with Leytonstone High Road.

The project will create a new area for residents to relax in, as well as space for informal play aimed at young children.

Landscaping, including retaining existing trees and shrubs, is included as part of the council's continuing commitment to improve air quality in the borough.

The design for the scheme followed a public consultation in 2016 where residents said they wanted higher quality open spaces.

The £155,000 project is due to finish by the end of July this year, ready for residents and visitors to enjoy during the summer.

Cllr Simon Miller, Cabinet Member for Economic Growth and Town Centres, said: "Every time we create one of these new open spaces it improves the area in several ways, including its appearance and air quality, which is why we include green open spaces in the regeneration projects we are delivering across the borough."

WALTHAM FOREST OPEN SPACE STRATEGY:

We need your views!

The parks and green spaces in our borough are fundamental to our ability to enjoy a good quality of life, support biodiversity and adapt to climate change. We are currently developing an Open Space Strategy that will provide evidence for updating our Local Plan and will provide a framework for future management of the borough's green spaces.

This short survey is aimed at getting a better understanding of what you think about the borough's existing green spaces, your recreation needs and your thoughts on managing green spaces for the benefit of the borough's wildlife. It is important that we understand how you use your green spaces and how you want them to be improved so we can plan for the future.

The survey takes approximately 10 minutes and can be completed online via the Waltham Forest Council website (<https://walthamforest.gov.uk/service-categories/parks-and-open-spaces>). The survey will end on 7 July 2019.
